LuxeLegs

FOR OPERATORS

Selling your empty legs

What you control, how you are paid and what it costs.

Your price

A fixed price, or offers down to a floor you set. Nothing sells below your floor. No discounts, auctions or surge.

Shown 72 hours ahead

Legs only show to travellers in the 72 hours before they run. There is no standing cheap list for your clients to wait on.

Your client

When you accept, you get the traveller's details and the journey is booked with you.

Your booking system

LuxeLegs is independent of every booking and dispatch system and has no fleet. Send legs by email, spreadsheet, GNet or Partner API.

Your payment

Take payment yourself, use your own payment link, or let LuxeLegs take it by card and pay you the balance.

Checked operators

We check every operator's licensing and insurance before they list.

WORKED EXAMPLE (ILLUSTRATIVE)

You are booked Leeds to Manchester Airport for £200. The drive back to Leeds is empty.

£0	£45	Their details
for the drive back if the leg is not listed	yours from a £60 sale on Launch, after 25% commission	the traveller books with you for future work at your rate

You choose the price and the floor. If £60 is too low for a leg, set it higher.

SHARING JOBS WITH OTHER OPERATORS

If you cannot cover a booked job, share it with another operator on LuxeLegs, whichever booking system you each use. You set the price. Each job is checked before other operators see it, including prices under £0.55 a road mile. There is no LuxeLegs fee to share or take a job while you sell your empty legs with us. Card fees and fair use apply; see luxe-legs.com/terms.
